MANHATTANVILLE

COLLEGE 1841

In the lower left are the black mountains of our earth and the M of ourselves, men. Above us is set the star, the light enlightening every man who comes into our world. In this light we read the book of learning, asking the meaning of our world and of ourselves. And so the cycle moves on without end. The seal, like reality, has no edges; its heights and depths, its width and breadth, lie open to the infinite.

This yearbook is dedicated to Mother Elleanor M. O'Bryne to commemorate her presence in the whole design of Manhattanville. She had an unalterable influence, not always seen but felt, on our present campus and past graduates.

Elleanor O'Byrne, a woman of legendary charm, whose voice had a delightful intonation of a southern drawl was the mother of present day Manhattanville. She was at home with people from all walks of life. Her remarkable memory and keen mind made an indelible impression on all who knew her. Self-deprecating humor made her human. She pursued excellence, surrounded herself with good minds and good manners and conducted college business with the aplomb of a hard headed business executive. She was a Formidable sight in the original, graceful habit of the religious of the Sacred Heart.

Mother O'Byrne dedicated her life to the Sacred Heart and when she resigned the presidency of Manhattanville, she spent her last years living the simple community life of a retired religious, praying and helping others.

Her monument is this college, her legacy, the pursuit of excellence and her abiding love, the Sacred Heart.

MANHATTANVILLE

Manhattanville. The word has different meanings and associations for all of us. Each student will carry unique memories beyond these walls after graduation. Each student brings something to this campus. Some people may find their true selves here, others might become lost; some of us hope to change the world, others just to find a place in it. Whatever our dreams, plans or past achievements, whoever our friends and enemies may be, we all share for a short time this intense Manhattanville Community.

The first weeks at Manhattanville were scary and uneasy ones for us. We were the new kids in the neighborhood, unsure about classes, friendships and our roles on this campus. Soon enough, however, faces became familiar, we adapt ourselves to our situations and somehow find a way to fit in. There are many ways and opportunities to be taken here. Some find a place on sporting teams, others in clubs and organizations, some on stage or with academic achievement. This can be easy and immediate, or it may require much time and effort. Whatever the case may be, each of us has the chance to discover who we are and what we shall become out there.

Let us remember all parts of life at Manhattanville. The close community and the exclusive cliques, the parties and the fights, the successes as well as the failures. Each has played a part in our education. We all came with different hopes and expectations and will leave in diverse directions. But everyone as a student has been influenced, changed, and educated here in our world in microcosm.

We shall not cease from exploration
And the end of all our exploring
Will be to arrive where we started
And know the place for the first time.
Through the unknown, remembered gate
When the last of earth left to discover
Is that which was the beginning;
At the source of the longest river
The voice of the hidden waterfall
And the children in the apple-tree
Not known, because not looked for
But heard, half-heard, in the stillness
Between two waves of the sea.
Quick now, here, now, always —
A condition of complete simplicity
(Costing not less than everything)
And all shall be well and
All manner of things shall be well
When the tongues of flame are in-folded
Into the crowned knot of fire
And the fire and the rose are one.

STUDY ABROAD

Manhattanville encourages us to examine and understand the world and ourselves. To some students it affords the opportunity to take a closer look at the world by studying in schools in foreign countries. Manhattanville students in the past years have studied in England, France and Italy. While there, they have been able to take courses in foreign languages, history and literature. The time spent abroad gives the Manhattanville student a better understanding and appreciation of a different view of the world and himself.

WMVL

Scott Kronenberg, Dan Duran, Monica Hoblin, Eric Berthel, Dara Griffiths, James Gilhooley, Michelle Eposito

In this ninth year of service to Manhattanville College, WMVL would like to thank all of its supporters. Last year the station underwent a complete physical overhaul. This year, our popularity was greatly improved, as was the attitude and enthusiasm of the WMVL staff.

General Manager Dan Doran would like to thank all of the station's D.J.'s for their hard work and dedication and to wish them all good luck for the future.

The Student Programming Board is responsible primarily for most of the activities on and off campus. They include films, lectures, and cultural, social and recreational events. Activities this year included taking a Day Trip to Boston, viewing such films as "Ferris Bueller's Day Off" and "The Color Purple," listening to guest speakers, including Congressman Joe DioGuardi, Nestle Chairman C. Alan McDonald, and US Attorney Rudolph Guiliani, and attending the musical "Edwin Drood" at the Elmsford Dinner Theatre.

Manhattanville's Black Student Union sponsors activities to inform the whole campus community about the current and future economic, social, political, and cultural status of blacks and other minorities in the United States. The organization also looks to make individuals outside of the college aware of the various efforts of black students of the Manhattanville campus.

Player's Guild

Player's Guild has a strange way of growing on a person. It's a special club of people who know there will be long hours of rehearsals, set building, hanging lights, and short periods of sleep. Despite those long hours and sleepless nights, these special people know something wonderful is going to happen. They know all of their time and effort will appear on stage in the form of a completed set, a brillant lighting design, or a credible actor. Seeing this after all the hours of hard work, the people who helped make the performance a reality have a great sense of achievement, and one of immense satisfaction. The persons' feelings are so great and truly pleasurable, they completely numb and dissipate the memories of the hardships experienced in the building of the snow. These people look forward to doing another production. Those involved want to share their feelings with the audience by producing the best show possible.

Manhattanville Karate Club, founded in 1981, is part of the Cheezic Tang Soo Do federation. Classes are instructed by Stephen Bardsley, a fourth degree blackbelt and master of Tan Soo Do. To the students the Karate Club provides an outlet; it gives them an opportunity to work out among friends, as well as a sense of achievement as they progress in rank.

Tri-Beta

The purpose of Tri-Beta is to expand our knowledge of life and living things. In order to broaden its scope of service to the Manhattanville community, Tri-Beta, a group of science students concerned about life, donated plants and scientific equipment to the school.

This organization also sponsored the Manhattanville Against Cancer Program, which included a series of lectures about cancer, its treatments, and prevention.

International Club

The International Club is like the United Nations of Manhattanville. Its purpose is to unite our countries and challenge the notions that we have about the world. The club not only bridges the gaps between countries, it also bridges the gaps between different organizations on campus, sponsored events with the Russian club, the HOLA club, the German club, and the Black Student Union.

Some of the affairs that were sponsored by the International Club this year were the International Dinner Dance, Oktoberfest, India Week, the Chinese New Year, and a Foreign Film Festival. The films that were shown included "Dr. Zhivago," "Lady Chatterly's Lover", "Ghandi", "A Man and a Woman", and "Seven Samurai."

Thanks to all of our dedicated club members, officers, and supporters who helped to make our efforts possible.

Athletic Department

The Intercollegiate Athletic Program is only one of five programs within the Manhattanville Athletic Department, (the others include: Club Sports, Intramural Sports, Recreational Sports, and Fitness Programs), that attempts to provide an opportunity for all members of our community (students, faculty, and staff) to participate fully in our department's offerings of play, sport. and athletics.

The Intercollegiate Program is founded on the old-fashioned principle of educating the "whole person." In light of the College's belief that in a residential, liberal arts institution, important learning does occur outside of the formal classroom walls, extracurricular activities all become not only important parts of student culture, but essential to what it means to be educated.

The Intercollegiate Athletic Program is intended to supplement and enrich the first priority of campus life: academic accomplishment. Each athletic program is designed, therefore, with this emphasis in mind. Classes always take precedence, and yet, within this philosophy, Manhattanville College teams each year take on demanding and challenging schedules in the belief that good students can find real growth and meaning in their athletic program.

After/thoughts

During freshman week last fall, a speaker told the freshman class to remember that the bottom line of their college education was that these were going to be the happiest four years of their lives. How sad, I thought at the time, that this man, probably some ten years out of college himself, considered that his happiness had been on the downslide ever since he left school. Can it really be true, I wondered, that happiness peaks before our 21st or 22nd birthday and that the rest of our life after that is less worth living?

Then two days later I went to the wedding of Julia, '87, and Gary, of the class of '85 and now already an MBA. The joy that was so obvious on their faces, the prospect of life together that was just beginning but held the promise of an eternity of happiness together, said clearly that greater happiness was ahead of them, not behind them.

Will your four years in college be the happiest years of your life? I certainly hope not. What a terribly pessimistic fortune that would be! To me, the purpose of the four years you spend here in college is not the enjoyment of happiness during that period, though that is also well worth doing, but is rather to learn how to be happy, how to grow morally, mentally and spiritually in these four years so that you achieve the ability to derive happiness from all the events of your subsequent life, the trials and adversity as well as the joys and fulfillment.

Few things can match the happiness of finding a job that one wants to do, of doing it hard and well, and coming afterward to rest with the feeling of having done something worth doing. The finding of a partner for life and the sealing of that partnership in marriage prove something that college math never taught, that two is not twice one but is a million or a trillion times one. The difference between being alone and having someone with whom to share in sickness or in health, for richer or poorer, can only be measured by that yardstick called infinity.

To hold your first child and feel a part of the age-old chain of our ancestors and our descendants brings a deep happiness. To watch and teach children as they grow, to see their eyes and their minds open to the wonders of life, is a happiness that cannot be duplicated. To grow in one's work, to find one's place in the community and in the world, and to hold one individual's share of the totality of the progress of humankind, these bring a kind of mature happiness that we cannot know without having gone through the experience.

And every age, I assure you, can bring happiness if you have learned how to develop it and appreciate it. One of the happiest things you can do as you grow older, and again I can assure you of this, is to work with the young and transmit to them, so far as you are able, the part of humankind's knowledge and wisdom that you have been able to preceive and store up. And, if God spares you long enough, you may live to see your grandchildren married, as perhaps your grandparents saw you, and witness another link in the never-ending chain of life.

No, my dear young friends, do not hope that these will be the happiest years of your lives. Enjoy your lives as students to the utmost, but know that you have the keys to a lifetime of happiness, rich and deep beyond anything you can imagine now, if you but only unlock the doors. And the most important key is love, love of oneself, of one's family and friends, and of all one's fellow human beings. We are taught that three virtues remain most important, faith, hope and love, and that the greatest of these is love. Love with all your hearts and souls and minds, then, and you will open the way to happiness. And you will find that these four years are not the happiest of your lives, but the beginning of a happiness that will grow and flower each day and year for the rest of your lives.
J. Owen Zurhellen, Jr.
